

* Simple Linear Regression vs Support Vector Regression

Simple Linear Regression

Decision boundary
OR support vector

marginal distance

The distance between the two support vector lines should always be maximum.

Why marginal distance always maximum?

When the distance is maximum less chance of error.

More chance of adjusting the error hence more accuracy.

$$-a \leq wx + b \leq a$$